System Crash*, a fascinating four-part series to premiere on Learning Skills Television

Vancouver, BC. – System Crash, an exciting new series from Omni Film Productions, explores the critical, global megasystems that uphold our safety, health and finances. These huge and often invisible infrastructures are more vulnerable than we think. This four part series goes behind the scenes to examine the complex technical web of systems that we all depend on, the people who make them work, and the sometimes devastating consequences that happen when they malfunction.

System Crash is set to premiere on Learning Skills Television at 3 pm on Friday, Sept 19, 2008.

“We all rely on and take for granted the infrastructures that keep the world running: cell phone networks, air traffic control, banking systems, the power grid – yet we don’t have a clue how they work. Until something goes wrong,” says David Gullason, Series Producer. “System Crash explores the fascinating technology behind these systems and leaves us wondering if sometimes we’d be better off in a simpler world.”

For 29 years Vancouver-based Omni Film Productions Limited (www.omnifilm.com) has produced over 200 hours of award-winning documentaries, factual and lifestyle series, drama and comedy series. Their success has been, in part, due to their ability to consistently produce a diverse slate of quality and entertaining programming. Together with sister companies Water Street Pictures and Water Street Releasing, Omni is a complete film and television production and distribution entity. A few shows currently in production are Word Travels, a travel series for OLN and National Geographic International; Pure Design, a green design series for HGTV; and Shock Wave, a two-hour documentary for CBC. Robson Arms, the critically acclaimed dramatic comedy series for CTV, is now airing its third season.
